

Roosevelt
Institute for American Studies

Pursuing the Rooseveltian Century

European Forum on US History

September 2025 – May 2026

The RIAS, in collaboration with six other European institutions, is launching the European Forum on US History, a new monthly hybrid seminar series on US history. Our partnership consists of the following research centres:

- American Studies Center, University of Warsaw (Warsaw, Poland)
- Centre d’Histoire de Sciences Po (Paris, France)
- Centro di Studi sugli Stati Uniti – LAB-USA (Bologna, Italy)
- Instituto Franklin-UAH (Alcalá, Spain)
- Roosevelt Institute of American Studies (Middelburg, Netherlands)
- Rothermere American Institute (Oxford, Great Britain)
- University of Southern Denmark (Odense, Denmark)

Together, our seven institutes will curate a rotating, hybrid seminar series that deepens historiographical and interdisciplinary exchange, broadens our geographic reach, diversifies scholarly voices, and creates new opportunities for joint workshops, doctoral mentoring, and collaborative publications. By fostering an inclusive platform for scholars and reaffirming our shared commitment to cutting-edge research on US history, we sustain vital cross-border collaboration at a moment when restrictions on academic freedom make such partnerships more essential than ever.

This series, one of the very few of its kind in Europe, intersects with various significant historiographical trends, continuing the move towards a more integrated view of US and North American history. It pays special attention to the inclusion of global, imperial, transnational, and interconnected histories to reframe our understanding of the United States’ place in the world and the emerging focus on international environmental history and issues.

The platform, which meets once a month in a hybrid format, encourages active participation from doctoral students and serves as an open and inclusive forum for discussing some of the most innovative recent scholarship. It aspires to bring together historians of different backgrounds and in different stages of their careers, foster a historiographical and interdisciplinary conversation, and critically consider the contemporary societal and political ramifications of the historical events under discussion.

Five of the seven partner institutes are members of the American Studies Network (ASN), a consortium of European American studies centres affiliated with the European Association for American Studies (EAAS).

Members

William Glass (American Studies Center)
Matteo Battistini, Angela Santese (Centro di Studi sugli Stati Uniti)
Olivier Burtin, Mario Del Pero, Jonathan Levy (Centre d’Histoire de Sciences Po)
Carlos Herrero, Ana Lariño (Instituto Franklin-UAH)
Gaetano Di Tommaso, Dario Fazzi (Roosevelt Institute for American Studies)
Daniel Rowe (Rothermere American Institute)
Jørn Brøndal (University of Southern Denmark)

Program Coordinator

Gaetano Di Tommaso

Invitation

FROM RESPECTABILITY TO THE FRINGE: THE FAR RIGHT IN THE INTERWAR ERA

LECTURER Olivier Burtin

DATE Monday, 18 May at 17:00 to 18:30 CET

LOCATION Online

Click on this link to register

Dr. Olivier Burtin is Associate Professor of U.S. history and civilization at Université de Picardie Jules Verne (Amiens, France) and an affiliated researcher at the Centre d'histoire de Sciences Po. He is currently working on a survey of the US far right and a co-edited volume entitled War in Modern US History: A Transatlantic Perspective (forthcoming with Ohio University Press). He is the author of A Nation of Veterans: War, Citizenship, and the Welfare State in Modern America (University of Pennsylvania Press, 2022). He currently serves as editor-in-chief of the bilingual journal Politique Américaine, and his own work has appeared in a number of publications such as Journal of Contemporary History, Journal of Right-Wing Studies, and Reviews in American History.

This talk is based on a chapter of a larger book project about the history of the US far right. The paper examines the American far right in the interwar period as a formative moment in its modern development. It argues that far-right movements were not marginal but deeply embedded in mainstream political and social life, most notably through the mass mobilization of the second Ku Klux Klan. In the 1920s, these actors largely operated in defense of an existing racial and national order, often in alignment with state authority. The crises of the 1930s, however, fostered a partial shift toward more oppositional and sometimes revolutionary forms of activism, shaped by the New Deal, the Great Depression, and the global rise of fascism.

To attend the lecture, please register here.

Program 2025-2026

Monday, 22 September 2025, 15:30 – 17:00 CEST

- Roundtable, Decentering the Study of U.S. History – A European Perspective

Monday, 27 October 2025, 17:15 – 18:45 CET

- Beth Wilson (Cardiff University), Slavery, Gender and Emotions in the Antebellum US South

Monday, 24 November 2025, 17:00 – 18:30 CET

- Francisco Rodríguez Jiménez (University of Extremadura/University of Salamanca), Trump's Foreign Policy

Monday, 26 January 2026, 17:00 – 18:30 CET

- Sylwia Kuźma-Markowska (University of Warsaw), Laboring in America: Polish-American Women and Labor Migration (1890s-1930s)

Monday, 23 February 2026, 17:00 – 18:30 CET

- Tom Meinderts (Sciences Po-Paris), Political Influence of the Christian Right on US Foreign Policy during the Reagan Administration (1981-1989)

Monday, 23 March 2026, 17:00 – 18:30 CET

- Roberta Ferrari (University of Bologna), Poor People's Movement and the Debate on Social Planning in the US during the 1960s

Monday, 20 April 2026, 17:00 – 18:30 CEST

- David E. Nye (University of Southern Denmark), The Great Energy Transition: American from 1876 to 1929

Monday, 18 May 2026, 17:00 – 18:30 CEST

- Oliver Burtin (Sciences Po-Paris/Université de Picardie Jules Verne), The US Far Right In Historical Perspective

ALMA MATER STUDIORUM
UNIVERSITÀ DI BOLOGNA

SciencesPo
CENTRE FOR HISTORY

This program is sponsored by

Roosevelt Institute for American Studies

Hofplein 16
4331 CK Middelburg
The Netherlands
T +31(0)118 678 836
E info@roosevelt.nl

www.roosevelt.nl